Gail Adams School of Art

Gail Adams School of Art has been offering the highest quality of professional art instruction to children and adults since 1980. The studio was established by Gail Adams and is owned by her long-time student and business partner, Carey-Lynn Link. We have professional artists teaching our classes: Eva Peters-Kooy, Kassandra Rea-Cram, Nathen Wahl & August Zamolsky. The art school offers a variety of programming for artists of all ages and ability levels from Preschool to adults. Weekly classes are offered in two semesters, generally beginning in September & February. These include both General Art classes & a wide variety of Specialized art classes for all ages. General Art classes are also available in Warman & Martensville. We also offer a variety of day camps for children during Easter & Summer break.

Weekly Classes

General Art Classes:

Each student works from a reference picture of their choice, either from the wide selection available at the studio or from their own collection. Each new student is given an introductory lesson explaining how to get started on their piece and some of the techniques that will be used. The students then work on their own pieces independently. During the class, the instructor will work with each student individually, going over their piece with them on a one-on-one basis, giving them suggestions, answering questions, and showing techniques appropriate to their piece. The General Art Classes offer instruction in a variety of mediums including pencil, pastel, pencil crayon, acrylic, watercolor and scratchboard.

- Appropriate for ages 6 to adult.
- We may take registration throughout the semester based on class availability for General classes only. The cost would be pro-rated based on the number of classes remaining in the semester.
- "Beginner art supplies" are required for all students. Supplies are available at Art Placement in Saskatoon. They will give our students a discount.
- Other optional art supplies can be purchased as needed. Please check with an instructor before starting a new medium.

Intro to Cartooning for Children:

Students will learn to develop their own cartoon characters. Weekly lessons will help students learn how to apply expressions, proportions, and elements of design, to their characters. Teaching methods will include demonstrations, examples, and specific exercises. Students will be introduced to the basics of drawing, and will work from reference images as well as from their own imaginations. They will learn how to construct cartoons and approach an illustration in 3 steps: thumbnail sketches, rough sketches and a finished pencilled illustration. This class is for anyone interested in learning how to draw cartoons, Manga, or graphic novels.

- Instructor: Nathen Wahl
- 15 one-hour classes.
- Appropriate for ages 10 & up.
- Because of the progression of lessons within the Specialized classes, enrollment may not be accepted after the first day of class and make-up classes will not be possible.
- Cost: $190.00 + GST = $199.50 + *supply cost (approx. $25): $50.00 non-refundable deposit due at the time of registration, balance of $149.50 + supply cost is due on or before the first day of class.
- *A supply cost will be added to the cost of the class. This will cover the cost of consumable supplies to be used during the class time for student projects.
- Classes are available on Mondays from 6:15-7:15 beginning Sept. 11, 2017.

Advanced Cartooning for Children:

This course will build on the principles of character construction learned in the Introduction to Cartooning class, and will encourage students to consider the other elements involved in cartoon and comic creation, such as perspective, light and shadow, texture, story-telling, etc. The popular manga drawing style will also be explored. Students will work from references as well as from their imaginations. The Advanced class will learn how to finish an illustration with inking, lettering, and colouring with marker. This course will build on the principles of character construction learned in the Introduction to Cartooning class, and will encourage students to consider the other elements involved in cartoon and comic creation including story-telling, perspective, light and shadow, and texture.
